Subject: Sink Hole Action Plan

I just got off the phone with Black Diamond, here is the latest. BD can “drop what they are doing and address it tomorrow”, but Saturday would work better for them. I told BD to hang tight, Saturday will give us time to discuss.

Tentative plan then:

- Emergency located was called in, waiting on utilities to finish up
- Saturday, BD will start excavating the hole and determine the extent of the damage, its likely that the road will not be completely shut down.
- Repair may include some erosion control layers
- Backfill using material from the mine site (screened and unscreened material) – Scott, are you ok with this?
- Compact and replace road surface

Duration and cost is tied to extent of damage. Black Diamond is estimating less than $5k, but it really depends on what they dig up.

Let me know what you guys think.

Ted

Subject: Reported sink hole on RR Rd west of Pinchot

Dear Roosevelt Ridge Community

It was reported late last night that a sink hole has developed on RR Rd just west of Pinchot lane. The BOD dispatched Black Diamond to investigate this morning and they confirmed the existence of a cavity at least 7 ft deep. From the surface, it does not look large, however when they lowered a flashlight into the hole, it expand under the road surface. This hole is also in close proximity to existing power and gas lines. BD called in an emergency locate to find these utilities and will be working with the BOD to implement a solution.

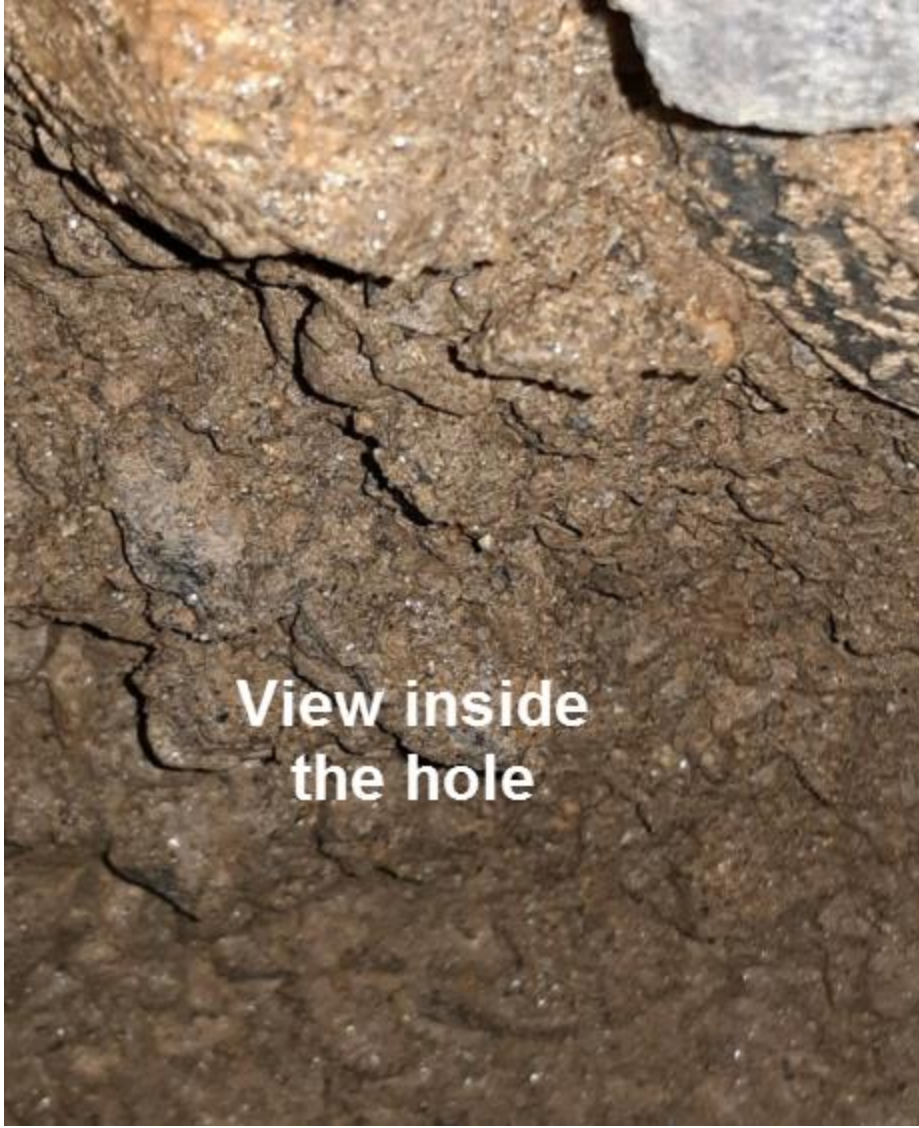

Cones have been put in place, please stay away and exercise caution. The BOD will update the community as the situation evolves.

Thanks
Ted Bertele
